

What if Bentley got access to Mary and Jack's wedding blog.....

Ahhh, the menu: After discussing my options with my home dawgs, this is what we came up with:

mmmmmm: appetizers:

leftover pizza crust ends,
chippy beef on toast,
mini milk bones with liver pate'
and bacon!

cocktail:

toilet water with a splash of rain puddles

main course:

each table will have a pitcher of kitty cocktails (YUM)

chicken poodle soup
choice of prime rib with yorkshire terrier pudding or road kill
with seasoned garbage can potato peels,
pig's ears
and bacon!

Dessert:

Tin woof sundaes or Tabby-oca pudding
with bacon bits!

Choice of songs for the reception:

Theme from The Hound of Music
Pomeranian Polka
Pup the Magic Pinscher
There's a Tree in the Meadow

Pocketful of Kibble
When I Throw Up
Lollipop
Walk Like a Basenji
Whippet Good
Stay
I Don't Want to Wait
Tearin' Up my Blanket
No Diggity
Freak on a Leash
Run Around
How Borzoi
Leader of the Pack
Woof, There It Is
If You Could Read My Mind (bacon)
Jumpin' Jumpin'
Oops! I Did It Again
Say My Name (over and over)
It's Meow Or Never
Fiddler On The Woof
Love Me Chicken Tenders
Mud on the Paws
Tail from the Vienna Woods

Whew! It's been an exhausting 9 months. Even though we were busy planning a wedding, We were able to take many trips and visit with family and friends:

First stop was visiting Uncle Rocky and Aunt Zoe in Hawaii:

saw the surfing championships in Honollulu:

got caught off guard by a Husky convention:

you can always tell the class of a place by their bathrooms:

visited Uncle Jack in Des Moines:

buried my cousin Larry in the sand along Lake Michigan, Ha-ha, that was funny:

chaperoned a couple of college kids:

had great meals:

went out clubbin' in Hawaii:

spent the afternoon with my cousin Chester:

enjoyed an Alaskan cruise with Aunt Rita and Uncle Joe:

gave a poor down and out fella a ride to the shelter:

babysat my little cousin, boy that was not an easy day:

oops, didn't know my picture was about to be taken:

I don't even remember this night: what a headache I had the next day

went to a wedding in Spokane, WA:

rode the gondola over the Spokane Falls, but they had this weird rule:

enjoyed some Washington wine:

attended another wedding in South Dakota:

And that about wraps it up. Can't wait for the wedding. The honeymoon plans are a secret, but I can give you a hint:

I hope Mary and Jack can find a place to sleep:

THE END!